Coin's Financial School.

BY W. H. HARVEY.

THE above is taken from the book, bearing the above title, which is published by the COIN PUBLISHING CO., 115 Madison Street, Chicago, Ill., and will be continued from week to week until completed.

So much uncertainty prevailing about the many facts connected with the monetary question, very few are able to intelligently understand the subject.

Hard times are with us; the country is distracted; very few things are marketable at a price above the cost of production; tens of thousands are out of employment; the jails, penitentiaries, workhouses and insane asylums are full; the gold reserve at Washington is sinking; the government is running at a loss with a deficit in every department; a huge debt hangs like an appalling cloud over the country; taxes have assumed the importance of a mortgage, and 50 per cent of the public revenues are likely to go delinquent; hungered and half starved men are banding into armies and marching toward Washington; the cry of distress is heard on every hand; business is paralyzed; commerce is at a stand still; riots and strikes prevail throughout the land; schemes to remedy our ills when put into execution are smashed like box cars in a railroad wreck, and Wall street looks in vain for an excuse to account for the failure of prosperity to return since the repeal of the silver purchase act.

It is a time for wisdom and sound sense to take the helm, and COIN, a young financier living in Chicago, setting up such suggestive, established a school of finance to instruct the youths of the nation, with a view to their having a clear understanding of what has been considered an abstruse subject; to lead them out of the labyrinth of falsehoods, heresies and isms that distract the country.

The school opened on the 7th day of May, 1894.

There was a good attendance, and the large hall selected in the Art Institute was comfortably filled. Sons of merchants and bankers, in fact all classes of business, were well represented. Journalists, however, predominated. COIN stepped on to the platform, looking the smooth little financier that he is, and said:

"I am pleased to see such a large attendance. It indicates a desire to learn and master a subject that has baffled your fathers. The reins of the government will soon be placed in your hands, and its future will be molded by your honesty and intelligence.

"I ask you to accept nothing from me that does not stand the analysis of reason; that you will freely ask questions and pass criticisms, and if there is any one present who believes that all who differ from HIM are lunatics and fools, he is requested to vacate his seat and leave the room."

The son of Editor Scott, of the Chicago Herald, here arose and walked out. COIN paused a moment, and then continued: "My object will be to teach you the A, B, C of the questions about money that are now a matter of every day conversation.

"In money there must be a unit. In arithmetic, as you are aware, you are taught what a unit is. Thus, I make here on the blackboard the figure 1

That, in arithmetic, is a unit. All countings are sums or multiples of that unit. A unit, therefore, in mathematics, was a necessity as a basis to start from. In making money it was equally as necessary to establish a unit. The constitution gave the power to Congress to 'coin money and regulate the value thereof.' Congress adopted silver and gold as money. It then proceeded to fix the unit:

"That is, it then fixed what should constitute one dollar, the same thing that the mathematician did when he fixed one figure from which all others should be counted. Congress fixed the monetary unit to consist of  $371\frac{1}{4}$  grains of pure silver, and provided for a certain amount of alloy (base metal) to be mixed with it to give it greater hardness and durability. This was in 1792, in the days of Washington and Jefferson and our revolutionary forefathers, who had a hatred of England, and an intimate knowledge of her designs on this country.

"They had fought eight long years for their independence from British domination in this country, and when they had seen the last red-coat leave our shores, they settled down to establish a permanent government and among the first things they did was to make  $371\frac{1}{4}$  grains of silver the unit of value. That much silver was to constitute a dollar. And each dollar was a unit. They then provided for all other money to be counted from this unit of a silver dollar. Hence, dimes, quarters and half-dollars were exact fractional parts of the dollar so fixed.

"Gold was made money, but its value was counted from these silver units or dollars. The ratio between silver and gold was fixed at 15 to 1, and afterward at 16 to 1. So that in making gold coins their relative weight was regulated by this ratio.

"This continued to be the law up to 1873. During that long period the unit of values was never changed and always contained  $371\frac{1}{4}$  grains of pure silver. While that was the law it was impossible for any one to say that the silver in a silver dollar was only worth 47 cents, or any other number of cents less than 100 cents, or a dollar. For it was itself the unit of values. While that was the law it would have been as absurd to say that the silver in a silver dollar was only worth 47 cents, as it would be to say that this figure 1 which I have on the blackboard is only forty seven one hundredths of one.

"When the ratio was changed from 15 to 1 to 16 to 1 the silver dollar or unit was left the same size and the gold dollar was made smaller. The latter was changed from 24.7 grains to 23.2 grains pure gold, thus making it smaller. This occurred in 1834. The silver dollar still remained the unit and continued so until 1873.

"Both were legal tender in the payment of all debts, and the mints were open to the coinage of all that came. So that up to 1873, we were on what was known as a bi-metallic basis, but what was in fact a silver basis, with gold as a companion metal enjoying the same privileges as silver, except that silver fixed the unit, and the value of gold was regulated by it. This was bimetalism.

"Our forefathers showed much wisdom in selecting silver, of the two metals, out of which to make the unit. Much depended upon this decision.

IN THE NIGHT,

When it's night, and no light, too,

On the mantel shelf;
In the dark—so still and black,
You're afeard you'll hear
Somepln' awful pop and crack,—
"Go to sleep, my dear!"

That's what Mother says,—And then's
When we aint afeard!
Wonder, when we he big mens,
Then 'ul we be skeerd?—
Some night Mother's goned away,
And ist us is here,

The dressmaker is the only woman whom you will allow to give you fits and when she shows by her cutting ways that she has measured you up, it is strange, but you seem to enjoy it.—Akron Courier.

It will soon be house cleaning time and you will want the feathers in the pillows renovated. A lady told me the other day how she accomplished this without paying several dollars and losing half the feathers beside. She chose a bright, sunny day. Then, after spreading a paper or old sheet on a table and placing the pillows on it, she washed them with a scrub brush dipped into warm soap suds. The little water that soaks through the ticking will not hurt the feathers. Hang the pillows on the line every nice day for a week or two, taking them in early and the ticks will be fresh and clean and the feathers seemingly increased fully one-third.

For Husbands—It is not healthful to wear your boots in the house after one o'clock, a. m. The common plan is to remove them in the hallway, but many of our most experienced husbands prefer the front steps. Always take a boot in each hand when going up stairs. This plan gives you two boots at the cat before stepping on her. Never say anything to your wife on these occasions except yes or no. Never compel your wife to get up and build the fire. If she doesn't do it of her own accord, go to sleep again. If your wife cooks anything that suits you to perfection, don't make any remark to that effect. A woman is easily spoiled. Don't be too good natured when at home; that is a signal for the feminine portion of the family to ask favors of you and you might be imposed upon. Bring your sons up to some occupation that will enable them to make a good living and they can help you when you need their help. D. F.

Spring Styles—Rubbers and mackintoshes will be much worn next month.

Last winter's wraps will be worn by a good many this Spring.

White straw hats will invariably be worn by men just home from the south.

Veils will be worn from now until the first of May by those who have a thought for their complexion.

Hats, gloves and dresses will have a general "between the seasons" appearance until Easter, when new costumes will blossom forth.

The hair will be worn loose and in "picturesque disorder" during all of March.

Spring dresses and hats will cost as much as ever. Those made over will cost some less and one can be still more economical by not getting any at all.

Bachelors will still wear perforated socks, loose buttons and unbrushed clothes. Some married men will do the same.

Nails dipped in soap are easily driven into hard wood.

A housekeeper who is too "busy" to take care of her health is like a workman too busy to sharpen his tools.

Comforters wear much better if quilted coarsely instead of knotted.

A broad, heavy tin pan is the best thing in which to keep milk.

Lamp wicks need not be trimmed with the scizzors. Brush them lightly with the fingers to remove the burnt wick.

Vaseline is an excellent dressing for shoes.

It is never economical to buy poor soap. Castile for the toilet and tar soap for the kitchen toilet are the best, for the tar soap is a balm for hands chapped by dish water and the alkali contained in the laundry soaps.

Sofa pillows are not a luxury to be placed in precision on the parlor sofa and never used, but a necessity and comfort on the sitting room couch and a "rest for the weary."

A feather duster may be pretty and dramatic, but a soft cotton cloth, slightly dampened, is much better to use for dusting furniture.

Housekeepers who are tired of scouring their rot wood kitchen tables, are having them covered with tin.

To wash the carpet sweeper wash the brush in soapsuds and ammonia and clean the rest of it with kerosene.

A yard of cheese cloth, hemmed at the ends, makes a good duster.

Cold tea, used to clean grained woodwork, preserves the gloss of the varnish and makes the woodwork look fresh and new.

If the burners of the lamps seem clogged with dust and oil, boil them half an hour in soap and water.

"Evil is wrought by want of thought as well as by want of heart."

A good pudding that is cheap and quickly made contains the following: a pint of milk, three beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls sugar, vanilla to flavor, about two slices of bread, broken and soaked in milk. Bake from twenty to thirty minutes. If desired, use one more egg and separate the whites, beating them stiff; add sugar and flavoring and spread over the pudding before serving.

Crisped Crackers—Split common butter crackers and spread thinly with butter. Put them, buttered side up, into a pan and color quickly in a hot oven. They will scorch easily and must be watched closely.

While the World will have a democratic tendency the interests of the people will be regarded from a neutral standpoint.

Not one dollar can be contributed by the government for the relief of sufferers in Nebraska and Colorado; but $5,000,000 in the way of profit to the Rothchild syndicate in the bond speculation is all right. Oh, how paternal this country is! What bountiful blessings have been cast upon—the Jews.

The total amount appropriated by the Fifty-third Congress foots up very close to one billion dollars, and instead of apologising for such enormous appropriations from a depleted treasury those who had charge of the appropriation bills are publicly congratulating themselves because they did not exceed a billion.

The legislature of 1889 and 1891 gave us the Australian ballot law, the new tax law, fee and salary law and a great many other reforms. What great law has the republican legislature of 1895 given us? Not one. It is safe to predict that the legislature of 1897 will be overwhelmingly democratic. The republicans have demonstrated their inability to do anything for the good of the people.

If eminent counsel will influence the members of the U. S. Supreme Court, there is a probability that the old decision of that Court, affirming the constitutionality of the income tax may be reversed, as there are no less than twelve of the most high priced lawyers of this country now engaged in trying to convince the court that the law is unconstitutional. Old habits of the court say there has never been such a number of the heaviest guns of the legal fraternity engaged upon one side in a single case. The arguments will close tomorrow, and a decision is hoped for in a week or two.

THE American Bi-Metallic party—a regular mouthful, isn't it?—is the title conferred upon the new silver party, which was started upon its career this week by the executive committee of the Bi-Metallic League, with a platform declaring for the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1; for the issue of all currency by the government; against the issue of interest-bearing bonds in time of peace, and for the payment of all coin obligations of the United States, "as provided by existing laws", in either gold or silver coin, at the option of the government, and not at the option of the creditor. The committee also suggests that ex-Representative Sibley, of Pa., shall be the Presidential candidate of the new party and asks opinions as to his formal nomination. Headquarters have been established and a national committee, with one member from each State and territory, is to be selected at once to take charge of the silver campaign, which is to be started immediately.

A MYSTERIOUS WOMAN

Milwaukee Police Believe They Have a Second Ethel Towne.

Milwaukee officers have arrested Mrs. E. Farwell, alias Curray on a telegram from Chicago that she was wanted to answer to the charge of passing a forged check for $250 bearing the name of T. Edward Costin, secretary of the Lincoln Park sanitarium. Mrs. Farwell was accompanied by a nurse, Hellen Rowan, who is in no way implicated and who will return to Chicago. In Mrs. Farwell's room scraps of a $50 check, also signed T. Edward Costin were found. The forged check was cashed at the Hibernian bank in Chicago, and when Mrs. Farwell was searched at the station a Hibernian bank book was found in her pocket. She declares that if the check is a forgery she did not know it and when she told the story of the check others would be implicated. She also said that the check was given her by her husband.

Asked why she had destroyed the check when arrested she answered that no one had seen her do that. She asked the inspector if the case could not be settled and said she was determined not to return to Chicago. Mrs. Farwell says that her home is temporarily in Chicago, but declined to give the address. The police think the woman has a history.

BAD MAN DEAD.

William O'Bryan, a Bandit, Dies with His Boots On.

Bill O'Bryan, the leader of the gang who held up an Illinois Central train at Bardwell, Ky., eight miles from Cairo, in November, 1893, securing $1,200 in gold, was shot and instantly killed the other night at Whiting, Mo., by James B. Fields, an ex-saloonkeeper of Cairo. It was a case of self defense.

and his confederates, Fields, who was running a saloon at Whiting, testified that O'Bryan's wife had deposited with him $300 in gold for safekeeping. Mrs. O'Bryan swore that she did not. Thereupon Fields claimed the money, and after O'Bryan's acquittal removed to Cairo to escape his vengeance. A few weeks ago he returned to Missouri and O'Bryan met him and demanded the return of the money. This was refused and the ex-bandit swore vengeance. They met in a saloon and before O'Bryan could draw his gun Fields shot him dead. At the time of his death O'Bryan was under indictment by a Kentucky jury for perjury in connection with his trial last July. He was noted as a bad man and was the terror of southeast Missouri.

A tourist in the employ of H. M. Romberg was sent to Bluffton in a rig with a travelling man last Monday. After arriving in Bluffton and getting the money for the rig, the fellow filled up on Bluffton whiskey. When he returned home and Lew Singleton asked him for the money, he got mad and wanted to whip Lew. Just then the marshal stepped in and took the tourist down to jail. He was brought up before Mayor Quinn Wednesday and fined $10, which was stayed by his employer upon the fellow promising to go to work. Two hours after he was again arrested by the marshal for public intoxication.

DISGRACED.

The Indiana Legislature Composed of Thugs.

A Disgraceful Riot Occurs In The State House At Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 11.—The most disgraceful scene ever witnessed in the closing of an Indiana legislature was enacted tonight at 11:45. Myron King, the private secretary of Governor Matthews, left his office with a veto message as to the custodian bill which established a new board to have charge of the state house and retains the now notorious Mike Cain, of whiskey barrel fame. King started up the elevator with the message. When the elevator reached the second floor the ruffianly Adams, of Parke, and a half dozen other bullies crowded in and ran the elevator up to the top of the building. King finally escaped from his captors and ran down stairs. He was then helped through the doors of the house, although they had to be broken down, they having been locked to prevent his entrance. A general scuffle ensued. Speaker Adams joined the mob and refused to recognize the secretary. The bill was carried over men's heads to the speaker's desk. At ten minutes before 12 the message was there. Many men had been struck and blood was flowing from many heads. At 5 minutes before 12 after the melee had passed the house adjourned. No one but those blatant, rabid sort of republicans think otherwise than this legislature has closed its career in shame and disgrace. King is found to have been badly hurt, as he was struck on all sides, being unable to protect himself as he had to keep possession of the message. Senate bill N. 266, fixing the manner of making street assessments, was passed and signed by the governor.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 12.—The battered heads and faces of the members of the legislature who participated in the riot in the hall of the lower house last midnight were nearly all turned toward home today. Myron D. King, the governor's private secretary, lies incased in plaster of paris. Opiates to relieve his pain are being given him. He did not regain consciousness until 8 o'clock this morning. His condition is critical. He is said to be suffering from internal injuries that may prove serious. The governor said this evening that he would have Representative Adams of Parke county arrested for attempted murder. It is alleged that he led the assault on the secretary.

Investigation today shows that about twenty-five republican members of the lower house were in the conspiracy to prevent the governor's secretary from entering the hall with the veto message. Speaker Adams declares that he did not know of the conspiracy, and it is the testimony of the men who were in it that he did not. Representative Adams said today:

"So far as I know I was struck only twice during the struggle in the house. Representative Williams choked me, but I do not remember that I was struck any hard blows."

"Who originated the plan of the republicans?" he was asked.

"I cannot tell," said he. "It is due to the speaker to say that he knew nothing of what we intended to do. We kept our plans from him. There were about twenty five members of the house in the secret. We determined on two things. We were first to take charge of the elevator. We supposed that Secretary King would take the elevator alone. When we stepped into it we found Custodian Griffin and several others there, and our plan to ride king up and down in the elevator until midnight failed. Our next plan was for twenty five of us to plant ourselves in front of the south door and make it impossible for Secretary King to enter. We did not anticipate any trouble. When we reached the door we found that thirty or forty toughs were there to render Secretary King assistance. Then the trouble began."

The hardest fighting occurred outside the hall of the house before the doors were forced open. About forty democrats were pitted against twenty-five republicans. Ten or twelve members were knocked down and kicked out of the way of the governor's secretary. Telegrams have been received by the governor and by the police authorities from different parts of the state today demanding that the ringleaders in the riot be arrested. The bill that caused all the trouble was torn to pieces in the struggle and the twenty-nine democratic janitors retain their places another two years. The fee and salary bill was mutilated, but it was filed with the secretary of state today and becomes a law.

DECATUR, Ind., March 11.—It is reported that a stranger dressed as a cowboy galloped through the streets of Lion Grove in Adams county, demanding tribute. Several stores which refused were saluted with shots through the windows and doors. Benjamin Moyer was compelled to surrender what money he had in his possession, after which the pseudo cowboy, who is believed to have been an escaped lunatic, fired upon him, wounding Moyer in the hip. The little village of Domestic, in the same township, was similarly annoyed.—Fort Wayne Journal.

FIVE THOUSAND FOR A WIFE.

Price a Pennsylvanian Paid for His Fourth Matrimonial Venture.

At the Mahaney hotel in Uniontown, Pa., a very romantic wedding was celebrated the other morning. The groom was a wealthy old farmer named Ephriam Walters, aged 82 years, from near Masontown, while the bride was a rich widow named Mrs. Mary Madera from Morgantown, W. Va., where she conducts a millinery establishment. Mrs. Madera is aged about 50 years. Mr. Walters has already been married three times and has several children as old as the wife he has just wedded. He owns one of the finest farms in the county and is worth at least $60,000. The peculiar part of this wedding is that it has been a business transaction from the beginning. His third wife died about two years ago. At that time the old man was very feeble and had to walk with a cane. He had then had a stroke of paralysis and was badly crippled. His friends thought he would soon follow his wife. To their surprise he became very sprightly and soon threw away his cane. Not more than six months elapsed until he began to talk matrimony again. His children discouraged the idea as much as possible, but he was determined to get married. After looking about and finding no one to suit him he placed an advertisement in the papers offering $500 to anyone who would find him a respectable wife. He also offered $5,000 to any woman who would agree to marry him.

Mrs. Madera heard of the offer and a correspondence was arranged between them. She agreed to marry him for a certain sum of money, made payable to her at the time of the marriage. A satisfactory arrangement was made and the wedding day fixed.

Killed While Playing Indian.

The 11-year-old son of Joe Smith of Columbus Grove, Ohio, while playing Indian with a shotgun, shot and blew the entire head off his little 5-year-old sister. The girl, while nursing her 5-months-old brother, noticed her elder brother advancing toward her with gun cocked, and exclaimed: "Charley, drop that gun," whereupon the boy dropped the gun, the trigger striking a chair and discharging the load, tearing the girl's head horribly. Some of the shot grazed the little baby's head, which will recover, but the girl died instantly. The mother was near by when the horrible act occurred.

TRUE TO ITS NAME.

Nearly twenty years ago one of the most eminent physicians in Indiana was noted for the wonderful success that he achieved in all diseases of the stomach. The remedy was so ready and perfect in its efficacy, that large as his practice was it was deemed proper to put this remedy in such shape that humanity at large could have the benefit of it. This remedy is Lyon's Seven Wonders, which is performing marvelous cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, and other serious ailments caused by functional disturbances of the stomach. The certificates of cures performed by Lyon's Seven Wonders bear the indorsement of the best people in the land, of those who are well known in the communities in which they live. Every young married man should subscribe for the WORLD. His wife probably always had the pleasure of reading it at home and it would be heartless to deprive her of the paper after she is married; then again it will make the home bright and happy, the wife need not waste her time visiting her neighbors who take the WORLD to find out what's going on. It saves cold dinners and gives the wife more time to darn her husband's socks.

OBITUARY.

Erza Steele was born in Adams county, on November, 18, 1873, and died March, 10, 1895, aged 22 years. He received his education in the public schools of this county and about one year ago became a solicitor and correspondent for the WEEKLY WORLD with which he was connected at the time of his death. About six months ago Mr. Steele opened up a general store at Curryville, to which business he gave most of his time. On Thursday afternoon he was in the WEEKLY WORLD office until 5:30 p. m. when he left for the home of his uncle, Edward LeBrun, where immediately afterward he was taken with a fatal illness, to which he succumbed on Sunday. He was a bright young man with rare business ability and would undoubtedly have had a successful career had he lived. The funeral services were held at the U. B. Church in this city. They were conducted by Co. B, 4th Regt. State Legion, of which Mr. Steele was a member. His parents and friends return their thanks for the assistance of friends.

Last Wednesday night about seven o'clock the handsome residence of J. S. Peterson in the south part of town was discovered in flame. The family was not at home and the fire, which was discovered by the neighbors, could not be got under control. It started near the kitchen and before many minutes had enveloped the whole building. The fire company arrived in time to save the adjoining residence of Frank Shirmeyer, which it was thought many times would be a loss and it was only by heroic work that it was saved. Mr. Peterson's residence which was one of the finest in the city, was burned to the ground with most of its contents. We understand that the property was insured for $2,600, which will partly compensate the loss.

Engineering and Human Life.

According to M. Eiffel, the cost of lives of any great engineering work can be estimated at least as accurately as the cost in money. "It has been found," he says, "by statistical observation that in engineering enterprises one man is killed for every million francs spent on the work. If you have to build a bridge at a cost of 100,000,000 francs, you know that you will kill 100 workmen." This statement, while rather an ingenious one, is not, it is stated, borne out by facts. Take the Eiffel tower, for example. Six and a half millions' worth cost only four lives. The Forth bridge, on the other hand, a contemporary points out, cost 45,000,000 francs, while the lives of fifty-five men were sacrificed in connection with its construction.

Didn't Forget One.

"Mamma," said Benny Bloobumper, "Mr. Trivet sent his little boy on an errand to get a hundred things, and Jimmy didn't forget one."

"That's the right kind of a boy to have," replied Mrs. Bloobumper. "I wish you were like him. I can't send you to the store for half a dozen things but you forget one or two."

"But I could remember all the things Mr. Trivet told Jimmy to get."

"What were they?"

"A hundred postage stamps."--Harlem Life.

Died Aged 112.

Catharine Nolan died at Litchfield, Ill., last week, aged 112 years and 9 days. She was born in Wicklow, Ireland, Dec. 25, 1782, seven years before Washington's inauguration. She was the great-grandmother of Mrs. Fred Heise of Litchfield. Deceased had for years to wear spectacles, but second sight returned, and when she died she could see as well as in youth.

AN A. P. A. TAKES HIS OWN LIFE.

LOGANSFORD, Ind., March 10.—William H. O'Connor, an A. P. A. lecturer, attempted suicide in jail here today. He was found hanging by the neck, with a rope made from his shirt, to his cell door, but was cut down before life was extinct and will recover. O'Connor was arrested yesterday while intoxicated. He had a satchel full of A. P. A. literature, and claims to have been sent out by the state A. P. A. to speak in small towns.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED

Last Friday night the postoffice and drug store of Oscar Anderson, at Linn Grove, was robbed of about $400, most of it being money order funds. Mr. Anderson, who lives on a farm, had left the postoffice in charge of his brother, and a tramp who had been seen in the neighborhood was at first suspected, but when arrested, he had no trouble in showing where he had been that night. The amount stolen was more than the salary of the office for a whole year.

Length of Human Life.

Science says that a longer life than 200 years is now impossible among men. Such ages as 150 years are in some countries comparatively common and it is believed that instances of men living to 200 years in modern times have been known. Beyond these years we can only understand life to be prolonged miraculously. Those of us who believe in miracles can believe this if we can see a reason for the miracle.

A bread and butter tree from the French settlement on the Gaboon was recently sent to a professor at Nancy to analyze. #### Tricks in Shoes.

Most men measure the life of shoes by the number of times they get them half soled. Manufacturers of medicine and cheap grades take advantage of this fact and put on soles that soon wear out. The tops survive the soles a considerable time. The wearer imagines that he has found a durable brand of shoes and probably asks for it again when he is ready for another pair.

Where Adolph and John will smile in your face,

You may use his shoe polish the best of the day,

SHAVE, 10 CENTS.

And even on Sunday he is not far away.
The work that they do for the young and the old,
Go and try them at once for the half I've not told;
As to hair they will cut so even and free,
As you like it and the latest of fashion it will be.

Near the Elm on Second, west side of the street,

They polish you up from the head to the feet,
The friend and the stranger they treat the same way.

You may call with your money and they'll work if you pay.

HAIR CUT, 25 CENTS
